Burton company to help customers with tax break

BURTON — Communications Technologies Incorporated, a leading provider in unified communications, said it is helping customers take advantage of a large tax-break for small to mid-sized businesses with Internal Revenue Code (IRC) Section 179. Section 179 of the IRS tax code allows businesses to deduct the full purchase price of qualifying equipment and/or software purchased or financed during the tax year.

That means if a business owner buys (or leases) a piece of qualifying equipment, he can deduct the full purchase price from his gross income. Essentially, it's an incentive created by the U.S. government to encourage businesses to buy new equipment and invest in their companies.

The recession has taken a toll on many businesses and this program provides a means for business owners to access much needed savings on major purchases of technology equipment, software or business phone systems. If business owners act by Dec. 31, they can write-off the entire purchase price of qualifying phone systems in the first year up to $139,000.

While every transaction is different and tax professionals should be consulted on specific situations, the potential rewards of this program have nudged many business owners to invest in the technology they need to gain a competitive advantage for 2013.

This year, Section 179 also extends to cover off-the-shelf software purchases in addition to traditional equipment. Many business owners have installed new business phone systems as a result of this addition to the tax code, because recent breakthroughs in unified communications are enabling businesses to collaborate better, faster and more efficiently with one another.

"We were stunned to find out that so many of our customers had not yet heard of Section 179," said Jeff Allen, President of Communications Technologies Incorporated, of Burton. "We may specialize in delivering technology solutions to our customers, but we treat our customers like partners. When we find something as powerful as this program we have always considered it to be our duty to share this information to our customers. Our goal is to introduce our customers to technology that not only enhances their productivity, but more importantly increases their

Social Security

Many people are wrongly treated when they apply for Social Security benefits. Some miss out on their benefits for Social Security taxes to ensure that they could receive disability benefits if needed longer term. In fact, the government denies approximately 90% of those who apply for disability benefits.

Attorney J.S. Steele and Jennifer Abbot have 42 years combined experience representing only Social Security disability clients. And the attorneys have won all appeals and appeals received at all court levels. Many large firms assign inexperienced attorneys to your case. For some of those firms and located thousands of miles away and only to the attorney in the day of the court hearing. Attorneys Steele and Abbot have vast experience before local Michigan judges.

Attorneys Steele and Abbot can often make a winning difference at the application stage. And if an appeal is necessary they have won several hundred appeals before several state and federal courts represented by attorneys with a much higher percentage of appeals. And attorneys who specialize in Social Security Disability cases win a much higher percentage.

In addition to practicing only Social Security disability law attorney Steele has written a book for attorneys about the subject and has been interviewed on radio programs and have given speeches to many groups.

Attorneys Steele and Abbot offer free phone or office consultation. If they represent you, there will be no fee charged until after the appeal is won. The fee is a percentage of recovered benefits.

Steele and Abbot represent clients from all over the state of Michigan. They have appeared numerous times before virtually all of the judges in the state. Call them at 1-800-886-8868 for a free consultation if you have been denied, or if you are thinking of possibly applying for Social Security benefits.
