

Joy Communications of Stuart helps customers make the move to cloud-based services

By news release

Originally published 12:41 p.m., January 7, 2014

Updated 02:08 p.m., January 7, 2014

STUART — Joy Communications, a provider of unified communications, announces a new program to help businesses migrate from hardware-based technology to cloud-based services. Joy Communications believes this technology is cost-effective for the majority of small to medium-sized businesses.

Joy Communications' cloud-based services enhance their customers' mobility, security and strategic IT capabilities.

© 2014 Scripps Newspaper Group